HB ELEMENTS® LOUVERS/GRILLES

One of the most visible adaptations of the English colonial style in the tropical climate of the Carribbean is the abundance of louvers. Whether it be in the louvered bahama and colonial shutters covering windows or louvered grilles running between columns at covered porches. The function is to provide shade while allowing breezes to circulate in these living areas.

HB Elements® Grilles and Louvered Panels come in a variety of styles with varied applications. Some run between columns at the beam functioning as sunscreens, while others may be used as louvered privacy walls at balconies. Regardless of the location, the overall result is a significant enhancement in the comfort and ambiance of outdoor spaces, effectively extending the living areas of the home. As with all HB Elements® products, beauty, low maintenance, and easy installation are designed in.

HB Elements® Closed Louver Panels can be used at gable ends, cupolas, dormers or anywhere a louvered look is desired but a functional louver is not needed.
